

Exchange students

Admission requirements

- Existence of an agreement between the Civil Engineering School of Barcelona and the university of the student.
- The number of students applying for a place has to be equal or lower than the number of places established by the agreement.
- Student's record.

Enrolment criteria for exchange students

- You can mix subjects from the different degrees offered by the School.
- 1 semester of studies: you must select from 20 to 30 ECTS credits.
- Whole year: you must select from 40 to 60 ECTS credits.

International students are also welcome to perform a research work at our School. However, there is no service provided to match student requests with on-going research projects at the School. A student who wishes to carry out a research work must contact the research group or professor directly and make the arrangements with them before applying. After following these steps, the student can apply as an exchange student.

Evaluation of the research work: it is assessed by a Board of Examiners during a public and oral presentation. More details and deadlines.

Confirmation of acceptance

Once you are accepted as an exchange student at the Civil Engineering School of Barcelona, you will receive an e-mail or Letter of acceptance, if needed, a few weeks after the deadline.

You will also receive an email providing some information about the registration procedures.

The Letter of acceptance is essential to process your student visa to remain in Spain during your academic stay.

Students from countries out of the EU or from Switzerland will need this letter to get the student visa at the corresponding Spanish Embassy or Consulate.
